

GRAND JURY TO INQUIRE INTO PRICES

ATTORNEY GENERAL GREGORY WILL START INVESTIGATIONS IN NEW YORK AND DETROIT.

MAY BE NATION WIDE

Probe May Be Carried to Other Large Cities as Well as into North-west and Far Western States.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Federal grand jury in partition of the high cost of living were ordered today by Attorney General Gregory to begin at once in New York and Detroit next week. Similar investigations in Cleveland, Kansas City, St. Louis and Minneapolis and other points are under consideration.

Dealers Force Prices. Reports to the department of justice from its field force of investigators, indicate, officials said, the widespread existence of combinations of brokers and dealers in foodstuffs, coal to force prices upward. All data concerning them will probably be submitted to the grand jury.

In addition to grand jury investigations in the middle west, officials are considering the advisability of starting similar proceedings in northwest and far western states.

High Cost Parties. Brainerd, Minn., Dec. 9.—High cost of living parties in the state capital among women on the Minnesota iron ranges. Mrs. W. C. Cobb of Brainerd is given credit for originating the idea.

Friends of Mrs. Cobb were invited to give five hundred. Time for awarding the prizes arrived. It was a dozen absolutely fresh eggs with a cleverly prepared version of the high cost of living. Envious glances were given the winner. Mrs. Cobb announced her next prize will be a bushel of potatoes.

Legislation Proposed. Washington, Dec. 9.—Representative Brainerd, Ohio, introduced a bill prohibiting cold storage warehouses from holding perishable food products, including eggs and meat, longer than three months.

To conserve the ammunition supply of the United States and "to protect the people from extortionate prices" in case of war, and from responsibility of aiding in the continuation of present European war, by temporarily prohibiting export of firearms and war munitions, was introduced by Representative Hollingsworth of Ohio.

EXTEND TEMPORARY INJUNCTION ON FORD

Detroit, Dec. 9.—The three circuit judges who heard the Dodge Bros. injunction case, today extended the temporary restraining order on Ford from using the profits of the Ford Motor company to develop his business. The judges during the three day hearing further argument, and will decide then whether to grant a permanent injunction.

Several of the important points at issue were discussed by Judges Wyett, Hart and Chester in their decision to extend the temporary injunction. They were not unanimous in their decision as to whether Ford legally could spend millions of his company's funds to construct and maintain blast furnaces. Ford announced some time ago he plans to buy great quantities of ore and smelt in his own furnaces. Judges Wyett and Hart held the Ford Motor company could probably build up such enterprise, providing all the products which it ever was used in the manufacture of automobiles by the Ford concern. These judges said there was no direct precedence for them to follow in this industrial history that a corporation seemingly was able to absorb the output of a twelve million dollar smelter.

Judge Chester, who did not concur, held that an automobile corporation cannot legally engage in smelter business, even if it tended to use the profits of its smelter. The judges were unanimous in their declaration that minority stockholders had a right to receive consideration.

GERMANY ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR COUNCIL TO GOVERN POLAND

Twenty-Five Members to be Appointed by Military Authorities Will Hold Sessions at Warsaw.

Berlin, Dec. 9.—Lloyd George's cabinet will be nonpartisan, and will meet the popular demand for a business government. It will not be a coalition cabinet in the sense of Asquith had the co-operation of all parties, even including practically the Irish nationalists.

The liberal meeting at the reform club yesterday decided that the old liberal leaders will constitute an opposition party in the house of commons, although the majority of the group of helpful criticism rather than of hostility. The newspapers are devoting themselves to framing possible cabinets, and incidentally wrapped up in the burning question as to whether Lloyd George can be called a conspirator and whether a government consisting largely of men unused to politics can be as efficient as one recruited from the traditional ruling class, that they give comparatively little attention to the events of the war.

The council also will have the right to reach decisions in regard to the economic reconstruction of the country. Funds will be placed to its credit by the German and Austrian administration, and the council will have the power of levying additional direct taxes, and of contracting loans subject to the approval of the military authorities.

SHOOTS YOUNG WIFE WHILE DRIVING AUTO

Milwaukee, Dec. 9.—Adolph Berns, 20, shot and killed Elva Help, 20, while driving in an automobile early today on the Green Bay road, North Milwaukee, and then killed himself. The couple were secretly married at Waukegan, Ill., on September 12, and it is said had disagreements on account of parental objection to the marriage. They were residents of Milwaukee.

The bodies were discovered by a man who went to Louis Larsen, a salesman, on the Green Bay road, and told him there was a machine down the road a ways, and that the man in it was apparently asleep.

When Larsen approached the automobile he lifted the curtains and there saw the partially frozen bodies of the two occupants, seated side by side in the front seats. One of the bodies, he told him, that both were dead, and he ran back to his place of business and called the sheriff's office.

ROUNDLY DENOUNCE ANTI-JAP CAMPAIGN

St. Louis, Dec. 9.—The Anti Japanese campaign, which has been going on since the outbreak of the war, is being roundly denounced by the Japanese community in this city.

This campaign, says the report, tends to establish a deep-seated suspicion of Japan among our own people, and to create a spirit of mutual hostility that upon some relatively slight occasions might easily result in serious consequences.

Metals because men happen to belong to this race or that race, God does not regard them with special favor or disfavor. True Christianity knows neither race nor color, and the spirit of the report is the report made by the embassy sent to Japan on behalf of the federal council of churches in 1915.

TO MEET DEMAND FOR NON-PARTISAN BRITISH MINISTRY

London, Dec. 9.—Lloyd George's cabinet will be nonpartisan, and will meet the popular demand for a business government. It will not be a coalition cabinet in the sense of Asquith had the co-operation of all parties, even including practically the Irish nationalists.

The liberal meeting at the reform club yesterday decided that the old liberal leaders will constitute an opposition party in the house of commons, although the majority of the group of helpful criticism rather than of hostility. The newspapers are devoting themselves to framing possible cabinets, and incidentally wrapped up in the burning question as to whether Lloyd George can be called a conspirator and whether a government consisting largely of men unused to politics can be as efficient as one recruited from the traditional ruling class, that they give comparatively little attention to the events of the war.

LOST WILL ACTION IN COUNTY COURT

Daughter Attempting to Establish Fact Father Bequeathed Property to Mother.

Judge Charles L. Pifford of Rock county court, is considering testimony offered yesterday in what is known as a "Lost Will Case," in which the daughter of a late Ludwig Russow of this city, and of his late wife, Mrs. Henrietta Russow, are interested.

The children of a deceased daughter, Fred and William Ullius, Anna Hoefler, Minnie Williams and Anna Alvin, are contesting the will left by Mrs. Russow, which bequeathed the family homestead to Mrs. Henrietta Radtke, another daughter, with whom she made her home in her declining years. Mrs. Russow's will was admitted to probate. Subsequent investigation disclosed that the property was still in the name of Ludwig Russow. His estate had never been probated although it was the impression of the family that the property was in the name of his wife for a life interest and with the fee vested in the children.

Mrs. Radtke is now attempting to prove that her father did leave a will which stipulated that the property, upon his death, go to his wife. Otherwise she would get nothing. Third parties started their contest action, claiming her interest to Mrs. Radtke, her reason being that since this daughter had cared for their father, and did not want to move from the property, and that she was no more than fair and proper that she should receive as her compensation, the homestead.

Louis C. Kersel and Mrs. Anna Hoefler, who were on the witness stand yesterday and swore that they knew of the existence of a will made by Russow and claimed that they were present to witness its execution. This present to witness, left the property to Mrs. Russow.

The Russow homestead is in the second ward. It has an approximate value of $3,500.

ROADS HEADED FOR FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

Washington, Dec. 9.—Railroads were accused of trying to ruin their own credit and laying foundation of federal ownership by Max Thelen, president of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, in resuming his testimony before the congressional railroad investigation committee.

"The railroads are in a hysteria of pessimism," he said. "The talk of the railroads about forty-nine masters, simply is language to cause confusion. No railroad in the United States runs through more than one-third of forty-eight states. Although all other corporations which do business in different states are subject to regulation by each such state, nobody except the railroads is complaining."

NEW SUBSEA CRISIS TURNS WHEAT MART IN FAVOR OF BEARS

Bullish Tendencies of Early Part of the Week Largely Counteracted by Later Developments.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Renewal of tension at Washington as to the apparent German infraction of the agreement with the United States about submarine attacks, have largely offset during the last couple of days, the bullish effect that early this week in the wheat market, was due to huge export sales. December delivery of wheat lost 3 1/2 cents in value as compared with a week ago, but deferred option scored gains of 5/8 to 5/16 cents. Corn advanced 1 1/2 to 3/4 cents for the week, and oats a shade to one cent. The outcome in provisions varied from seventy-five cents decline to a rise of two and one-half cents.

Conditions in the wheat trade turned quickly, however, development seemed likely to increase or diminish the amount of export shipments from the United States. The first of the document of the proposed sale of $50,000,000 of British and French treasury bills, seemed to have put the bears at a decided disadvantage. The wheat market was greatly encouraged by immense foreign purchases credited in the main to Holland, Belgium and Greece. Announcement also was made that President Wilson would directly oppose any embargo on foodstuffs.

Anxiety over the submarine issue with Germany dominated the wheat market on Thursday and Friday. Sentiment in favor of a decline in quotation received considerable impetus, too, from a likelihood that shipments from the United States to Greece would be stopped by an Anglo-French blockade. The intensification of the railway embargoes east of Chicago, formed another source of depression as the wheat drew to an end.

RUSSIAN ATTACK IN CARPATHIAN FOREST RESULTS IN GAINS

Berlin, Dec. 9.—Strong attacks were made yesterday by the Russians in the Carpathian forest, the war office announced. North of Dornau, Watia and other places, the Russian troops gained ground at the cost of heavy losses.

Rumanians Retiring. Petrograd, Dec. 9.—In the province of Wallachia, the Russian official statements today, the Russian troops under heavy hostile pressure, continued to retire to the eastward. In consequence of this, it is added, the Russian troops who are on the left flank of the Rumanians, also are retreating.

In Putna Valley. Russian troops on the northern Rumanian front, attacked the Putna valley region yesterday and dislodged them from two heights, the war office announced. They took 600 prisoners, including ten officers, and destroyed two bomb mortars and one cannon.

Group of Corn Contest Winners

Corn contests have become an established thing for the boys of Rock county. The first applicant for entry in the 1916 contest, from the western part of the county, has written to Secretary Kuhn of the Commercial Club under whose auspices the contests are held, that he intended to enter and will use Silver Kings seed.

The corn contests have created an interest in corn culture on the part of the young farmers which is bearing fruit in the matter of increased yield and better seed in all parts of the county.

In the acre contest this year, forty-three boys participated and submitted complete reports of their work. All of them creditable. These forty-three acres of seed for next year which will mean better grade of corn and bigger yields, if the seed is properly cured and tested.

HUGH FISHER Winner of Acre Contest.

The records of the Rock county contests will be filed with the college of agriculture at Madison and with the United States department of agriculture at Washington, along with similar data from other states. Thus it appears that Rock county's record and possibilities as a corn raising section in the United States are being carefully watched in state as well as nation.

Announcement will be made of the plans for the 1917 contests as soon as the annual meeting of the Commercial Club. This will undoubtedly come after the annual meeting of the club in February when new directors will be elected.

BURLESON ADVISES FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF ALL WIRE LINES

Washington, Dec. 9.—Postmaster General Burleson's annual report, issued today, declares there was a postal department surplus of $5,000,000 for the present year and enumerates as among the year's accomplishments improvement of the parcels post, extension of city and rural delivery, and development of the postal savings system.

A surplus of $12,500,000 is shown says the report for three years of the postal department. Another year in office, and it calls attention to deficits under previous administrations.

The department makes many recommendations for improvement of the postal service, some of the most important are these:

Urges Government Ownership. That early action be taken by congress declaring a government monopoly over all utilities for the public use, and that the telephone and telegraph facilities of the United States be incorporated into the postal establishment.

That $300,000 be appropriated now for acquiring telegraph and telephone utilities in Alaska, Porto Rico and Hawaii.

That second class postal rates be revised to make second class matter pay more of its share of transportation expense and that the one cent postage be applied to all so-called drop letters.

That public buildings erected for postoffice purposes be standardized and that their cost be commensurate with the needs of the service.

That funds be expended in a number of large cities for buildings not of ornamental design but designed to accommodate the postal service before more money is spent in smaller towns where buildings are not needed and can not be justified.

That changes be made in the present building policy which imposes a fixed charge on the department that has grown burdensome.

That the classified service be extended to include the postmaster at offices of the first, second and third classes.

That the department be authorized to bond its employees so that the government may be protected more adequately and that relief may be afforded officials and employees of the service.

Rural Carriers' Pay. That the pay of rural carriers be equalized by fixing salaries on the basis of the number of pieces and weight of mail transported. Length of routes and time required to serve them, instead of solely on length of routes as at present.

That $100,000 be appropriated for experiments in aerial transportation of mail.

That legislation be passed to enable the department to organize postoffices on a more businesslike basis, to standardize the salaries of supervisory employees in an equitable manner.

Growth of the parcel post will cut the cost of living to the service. The report declares. The service is now handling ninety million packages a month. Liberal changes in its regulations have done much to bring about its extension. It is declared.

Under a law passed last July the department on November 1 put parts of the railway mail service on the space basis of pay, using rates which are the maximum provided by the act. These rates, the report says, are excessive, and under the law the department will on January 1 file with the Interstate Commerce Commission a comprehensive plan of service which will embody a recommendation looking to a reduction of the rates.

MAY SHELVE U.S. PROTEST ON BELGIUM

STATE DEPARTMENT FEARS GERMAN WILL DISREGARD OBJECTIONS TO DEPORTATION.

UP TO PUBLIC OPINION

American Relief Work Among Belgians May Be Discontinued as Result of German Policy, Report from England.

Washington, Dec. 9.—With publication of the American protest to Germany on the deportation of Belgians, state department officials disclosed today, the United States has exhausted its means of diplomacy and has laid the case before American public opinion, from which it will expect to draw guidance for the next step, if any, to be taken.

Germany's reply, conveyed in conversations with Charge Grew at Berlin by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, is that the deportations are regarded as justified on the grounds of social necessity.

Will Not Heed Protest. No actual reply in the form of a note has been received from Germany, but it is understood that the protest of the United States will not be heeded. Official information shows also that the deportations are continuing. Publication of the protest was disclosed at the state department today to be for the purpose of placing the case before American public opinion.

Official information shows also that the deportations are continuing. Publication of the protest was disclosed at the state department today to be for the purpose of placing the case before American public opinion. The document might be interpreted as unfriendly, but that this consideration had been taken into consideration before it was given out.

No indication has been given as to when the official German reply will be received, even whether one will be sent, but it is understood that when one does come it will be made public if the German government desires. The note, however, has been stated, was made public without consultation with Germany.

With the apparent failure of the American protest as well as of the protest of the United Kingdom, the state department will await the expression of public opinion before another step is taken. The next step is making public of further information of the extent and machinery of the deportation.

Meanwhile, the second official statement from the United States today, that American relief in Belgium may have to be terminated, because of deportation, is causing alarm.

Reply in Seebeck Case. Berlin, via London, Dec. 9.—The German answer to the American protest regarding the sinking of the Seebeck has been dispatched to Washington. The steamer Seebeck, according to German information, was sunk in the immediate vicinity of a hostile naval port, and there were no means of distinguishing it from an enemy warship, announcement says.

"If the experience of our forefathers born citizens is properly utilized, the United States should be able to bring to the world's problems both understanding and sympathy."

Were Surprised On Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. David Clark.
Mr. and Mrs. David Clark celebrated their golden wedding Dec. 4 at their home on Milton avenue. About fifty of their relatives surprised them, bringing flowers and other gifts.

Mr. Clark was a native of Scotland and came to this country when he was twenty years old. Mrs. Clark is of Scottish parentage, but was born in the town of Harmony, Rock Prairie. Her maiden name was Margaret Barlow.
The Rev. Walker performed the marriage ceremony fifty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark lived on their farm at Rock Prairie until fifteen years ago, when they moved to Janesville.
Eight children were born to them, five are living, two having passed to the world beyond. There are eighteen grand children, three of whom were married this year.
Light refreshments were served at the golden wedding, and all went away feeling happy.

SERVE FINE SUPPER AT REASONABLE COST

Otterbein Guild of United Brethren Church Prepares Substantial Menu
at Low Prices.

A good luncheon for twenty-five cents or less was the aim of the Otterbein Guild at their supper last evening at the U. B. church. The meal was served in cafeteria style and eaten at small tables in the church dining hall.

Prices were most reasonable and a large number were served during the evening, beginning at five o'clock.
The menu consisted of meat loaf,
cream potatoes, cabbage salad, sandwiches, doughnuts and several kinds of pie and cake, with coffee.

The Otterbein Guild is the missionary society for the young ladies of the church. They meet every month, at the homes of their members. Their president is Miss Alma Perry, and their secretary Miss Lottie Skinner.

They number about twenty-five members. A very successful sale was held by the ladies of the U. B. church in the rooms of the parsonage during the afternoon and evening. Their table of home baking products had most appetizing array of good things on display, and was very well patronized. They also had candy and a variety of fancy articles, aprons, laundry bags, pillow cases, towels, etc. The ladies' society has about twenty-five members, of whom Mrs.
Kramer is president and Mrs. Perry secretary.

MAKES INVESTIGATION OF NUMEROUS LETTERS RELATIVE TO THE SHOW.

Mayor James A. Falters this morning called Jos. M. Bransky, lessee and manager of the Myers Theatre, to the city hall to discuss complaints and inquiries that had been received from citizens and various bodies of the country relative to the nature of the production scheduled to appear at the Myers Theatre Sunday evening.
On being assured by Mr. Bransky that the musical comedy in question was not as bad as painted and there would be no cause for complaint, it is probable that no further action on the part of the authorities will be taken.
Several of what have been termed the "big hits" of the production, to which objection has been raised, will be eliminated, but with the actors and actresses in the program of the prominence they have in the theatrical world these changes will not hurt the dramatic effects of the plot.

FIRST INSPECTION

BY AN ARMY OFFICER

HELD LAST EVENING

General Charles King, U. S. A., Visited the Second Separate Company on Official Business.

Brigadier General Charles King, U. S. A., retired, inspected the Second Separate Company, W. N. G., on Friday evening and expressed his pleasure with the showing made by the enlisted men and the officers. For fifty years General King has been a soldier and for many years he has been an inspector of the Wisconsin National Guard, adjutant general, commander of the University of Wisconsin battalion, following his retirement from active service in the regular army.

In 1908 General King was called to the colors and commanded a western brigade in the Philippines, later being retired as brigadier general. He visited Janesville in the fall of 1915 when the city boasted of the two crack companies of the state, the "Guards" and the "Rifles," was in charge of the troops at the Bay View riots in Milwaukee in the summer of 1915, and was in charge of the troops at the Janesville men were stationed in the danger zone, and also inspected the various Janesville commands many times, so his visit here was a most interesting trip to him and as he expressed it, recalled pleasant memories of the past.

Some hundred and fifty spectators, composed of members of the civil war members of the William H. Sargent Post, G. A. R., members of the Women's Relief Corps and Ladies' Patriotic society, former members of the Wisconsin National Guard companies dating back twenty to thirty years, members of the Harry L. Gifford Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans and Boy Scouts, and a large number of interested citizens, gathered to witness the inspection.

General King watched the drill under Captain Jaeko for some time and then gave the men a talk on many matters of interest in the work of the company's book and held an informal reception after the drill hour was completed.

General King and Captain Jaeko were busy. Lieutenant Fris took charge of the company and later Sergeant Wood, U. S. A., drill sergeant, took charge of the company into shape, took charge and put the men through their paces. The audience was much interested in the work of the company and the improvement they have shown since their organization last July. There were forty-six enlisted men in uniform on the drill and several officers and sergeants who have been equipped, as well as the three officers present.

General King stated that a later inspection would be made by the United States government to the Wisconsin Guard after the first of the year and that he himself would make a further inspection in January or February. He stated that he would like to see the company again and that he would like to see the company again and that he would like to see the company again.

ENTIRE COMMUNITY

INVITED TO ATTEND

LIGHT DEDICATION

Celebration in Honor of New Street Lights Planned for Every Member of the Community.

There has been some belief abroad that the ceremonies on December 12 to be devoted to the new street lights which have been placed on the main downtown streets of the city, are intended largely for the men of the community. The officials in charge of the celebration are most desirous of banishing any such belief, and urge all women to be present at this affair.

In essence it is a community affair, and is intended for every individual in the community, both the citizens of Janesville and those of the outlying districts. It is the hope of the committee in charge, which has the active arrangement of the dedication in charge, to make this a real community affair, on somewhat the same lines as the much talked of dedication of the new street lights in honor of the boy corn contestants at Harlem park a few weeks ago.

The main address of the evening will be devoted to the subject of community building, and it is the wish of the men in charge to have everyone who possibly can, hear this address.

Merely because of the fact that it is no reason for their being excluded from any real community gathering, said one of the committee members in charge of the dedication today, "The real neighborhood life of a city or a rural community is built around them. Their clubs and circles often do more to cement the various sects and groups of a community into a co-operating whole than do all the enterprises of the city and the women to take part in this celebration and to hear Mr. Witte speak."

Janesville is fortunate in securing T. R. O'Brien to speak on the subject of community building, for he is a man known from one end of the United States to the other as being a most aggressive advocate of community building. His work along this line in his own city, Trenton, Missouri, has attracted national attention because of obtained on account of the efforts put forth by the citizens of that town to create a better feeling between the business men and the farmers of the surrounding country.

In addition to the other speakers secured for this dedication, and to the Bower City band, which will play during the celebration, the program has been extended to the B. Scouts of the city to take an active part in the ceremonies. It is also probable that the second separate company will take part in the evening's events.

The program for Sunday evening is as follows: Hymn by the congregation. Prayer by the Reverend R. G. Peterson. Scripture reading, Rev. C. E. Ewing. Vocal solo, "Open Ye the Gates," Miss Little. Lobster and Musical Side of Girls' Conference, Miss Helen King. "Life's Library," Mamie Rudd. "Freedom and the Universal Religion," Mrs. J. E. Briggs. Cornet solo, Mr. Hanson. "The Beloit Reception," Stewart Lamb. "That the Great Athlete Said," Robert Lane. "The Sunday School Side," George Sprackling. "The Forward Step," Edward Ewing. On minute talks by fifteen delegates.

A summary by the Rev. F. H. Brigham. Paul Richards, who presided at the Beloit meetings, in the capacity of president, will be the presiding officer at the meeting Sunday night. The public is invited to attend the service, which will be of special interest to young people.

Lima, Dec. 8.—Mark Shumway was up from Milton and spent Friday evening with the Rees boys.

Mrs. Ames Gould was out from Milwaukee for a couple of days this week.

The ladies and supper given by the M. E. ladies was well attended and the receipts of the evening were $90. Thirty friends of the church were up from Milton.

Mrs. Rees has been spending the week with her mother at Turtle Lake, and her sister, Miss Ione Anderson, kept house for her.

Clay Humphrey and Miss Carrie Peacock were married on Wednesday at the home of the bride's father, Robert Peacock, Rev. Miller officiating. On this occasion four generations of the Peacock family were present and had their picture taken. They were Richard Peacock, who is over ninety years old, his son, Robert, and his grandsons, a great grandson, David Lee Peacock.

A telephone was placed in the depot Friday. Call 25, 1 ring.

Work at and around the depot is progressing slowly. Much of the cement work is done, and the interior of the building is being done over.

Mr. Benton of Richmond Center visited at M. E. Gould's.

Mrs. O. W. Bennett attended the stock show in Chicago this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook and Georgia were up from Janesville, and attended the fair on Wednesday evening.

VISITING NIGHT AT

THE EVENING SCHOOL

Director Hill Sets Aside Next Tuesday Evening for an Open House.

—Many Exhibits.

In order to give the people of Janesville an opportunity of seeing just what the many classes in the evening school are accomplishing and of how they do it, Mr. Hill, the director of the school, has set aside next Tuesday evening, December 12, from 7:30 to nine o'clock, as a visiting night. At this time all who wish to see the work of the school, and the visitors may drop in on as many as they like, to see the method employed in each of the various classes, and to exhibit the work done in each of the classes. Also there will be exhibits of the students' work in each of the classes, and the visitors will be able to see the work of the school in a most interesting manner.

During the evening the Lakota club quartette will sing at the high school building.

It is expected that a large number of people will attend this open house, as the evening school has proved more popular this year than ever before. The city as a whole is interested in its achievements. Various experts in the different branches of study and household arts taught in the school have volunteered their services with the result that the faculty is made up of an exceptionally fine type of instructor. There are a good many people who have been in the school since 1892, and who have been in the school since 1892, and who have been in the school since 1892.

The following classes at the high school are open to visitors: Machine shop, Mr. Manning, instructor. Gas Engines, Mr. Manning, instructor. Chemistry, Mr. Arbutnot, instructor. Millinery, Miss Imman, instructor. Plain Sewing, Miss Wilson, instructor. Dressmaking, Miss Linde, instructor. Assisted by Miss Klingbeil and Mrs. Brown.

Dressmaking, Miss Buchholz, instructor, assisted by Mrs. Benkers. Water Color Painting, Miss Ella Smith, instructor. Conversational German, Mr. Schroeder, instructor. Conversational French, Rev. Beccaria, instructor. Northland, Spencerian System, W. W. Dale, instructor. Shorthand, Pitman System, D. D. Minnors, instructor. The high school which will make exhibits are: Dressmaking (2 classes.) THE GAZETTE'S MOTORIST PROBLEM DEPARTMENT

(Published Saturdays.)

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—Some years ago we heard a good deal about two-cycle engines being used on autos. Why have they dropped out? They are found practicable for marine use and they give twice as many explosions as a four-cycle engine. What elements do they lack to make them useful for auto use?

J. J. H.

A. They are successful in marine work where top speed is used all the time, but they do not run well when throttled down too much nor when speeded up too much. At these points they begin to miss explosions and so become troublesome.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—I have a 1917 model Ford, locked with a Yale switch lock. Could any one wire around the switch and take the car if left for a short time on the street? What other means would you suggest locking the car?

Is there any danger of the water freezing in the storage battery during the cold weather? If so, what must be done to protect same when it is used only once or twice a week? I thank you for any suggestions you may offer on the above items.

H. B.

A car might readily be stolen as indicated, although it would be risky raising the hood to make the change. Run magnets and battery wires to hidden switches, leaving the regular switch in use.

If battery is kept fully charged it cannot freeze, but when discharged to 1000 will freeze a few degrees below freezing point.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—When I have my car throttled down pretty slowly it misfires and jerks. The gas valve is perfectly cut down—it is about an inch from the bottom. When it is farther up it runs fine and doesn't misfire. Will you please tell me what the trouble is?

M. S. R.

A. Either the float shuts off the gas line at too low a level or there is a partial obstruction in the fuel pipe. Remove strainer and clean it and adjust float to bring gasoline to proper level. A card addressed to the manufacturer of your carburetor will bring you full directions for making all necessary adjustments.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—What is the best way to tell if the water pump is working? There are no water pressure gauges on the dash, but present day cars do not have them. E. N. D.

A. Remove radiator cap and see if water is circulating. On some cars the movement of the water does not show, so we hold back a hose to bottom of radiator. If water is cool and top is hot it shows that the pump is not drawing the water from the bottom, hence is not working.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—Can two headlights of 16 C. each be successfully operated from an 80 amp. storage battery? How many hours (approximately) could two lights of this capacity burn on such a battery (continuous burning)? How does cost of operation compare with "canned" acetylene?

E. Z. R.

A. If the battery is a 6 volt battery and you use 6 V. lamps they will work very well. As they draw two and one-half amperes each they will run down the battery in about fifteen hours. Acetylene would be cheaper unless the battery is charged by the dynamo on your car.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—Why do the front wheels on an automobile turn as they do for steering? On a buggy or wagon the axle pivots in the center. Why is it not done on an automobile?

E. P. S.

The leverage would be so great that the driver could not pull the axle around. Striking an obstacle with one wheel would break the steering gear unless it were unusually heavy. Another reason is that when turning corners it would bring the point of support, the wheel, too near the center of gravity, with greater danger of overturning.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—Why do the front wheels slant outward at the top? Would it not give greater security if they were spread at the bottom and slanted in so as to give more of a bracing effect?

The purpose of the slant you mention is to relieve the strain on the king bolt and to make steering easier. The point of support, the wheel, is very nearly under the king bolt, which serves as a hinge.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—What is the reason for the reduction in gear at the rear axle? Does not the change speed gear give all the reduction necessary?

If there were no reduction at the rear axle the engine would have to drive the rear wheels at its own speed, which is high gear, which is more than the engine could do. When throttled down it would stall very easily. Another reason the other gears would have to be much larger so as to run the car slowly, on low speed or reverse. The proper reduction has been

HELPFUL HINTS.

Be sure to blanket the radiator thoroughly if car is to stand outside for any length of time. Fasten blanket around filling cap and tuck it in carefully at the bottom, so that the frost cannot strike the radiator. Also head the car into the wind, if possible, so that the frost cannot strike the radiator from the back.

If you drain out the water from the cooling system be sure to get it all out. Some engines have drain plugs at the bottom of water jackets and pumps. See that these are removed and break joints where there are low spots in the pipes.

If necessary to fill a cooling system when temperature is below freezing point use boiling water, otherwise the radiator may freeze up solid.

Sometimes compression cocks have a tendency to stick, making it hard to open them. Put a drop of oil in them occasionally, while engine is not running, and work it around to reach every part.

The skilled driver rarely uses his brakes except for an emergency stop or while going down hill. Learn to judge the distance and let your car coast to the point at which you wish to stop. This will save the brake lining, and other parts so that they will not need to be replaced so often.

figured out by the designer, using a great reduction for hilly country.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—I am working my Hup 32 car over and would thank you to kindly advise me through your columns if it is necessary to have the car all over before applying the first coat of paint. Would you please give me full instructions how to paint car, etc?

G. C. M.

A. Shellac makes a good painting surface on a metal body, but the grease and dirt must be removed first and the surface cleaned with emery cloth. After shellac has dried go over it lightly with "double orange" sandpaper to remove rough spots. Apply as many coats of paint as wanted, rubbing down after each coat with the fine sandpaper. Finish with a good varnish.

Motorist Department, The Gazette.—For some time I have had trouble starting my four-cylinder car. I do not have start—use five dry cells. After I get it started and warmed up I have no more trouble until next day. Can often start car during day on compression. I have tried everything I could think of and am sure cells are O. K. and connections all right. Today could not start with gas in priming cups. As a rule can start by priming cups. Have had parties come and start it, but it takes a long time, and sometimes has to be abandoned. Carburetor rushes all right and spark plugs are clean. Would like your advice what to do.

F. L. W.

A. Evidently your motor is too cold. Warm up by wrapping cloths, dipped in hot water and wrung out around carburetor and inlet manifold. In severe weather use ether for priming. It is possible that cylinders are piston rings are giving poor suction, or the timer rotor may have shifted slightly on shaft, making the spark late.

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

The Winter Garden always synonymous with gorgeous scenery, catchy music and hordes of beautiful girls, is sending this city its latest creation, "A World of Pleasure," this massive production being booked for the New Myers Theatre tomorrow evening. The present production is more of a spectacle and differs from other Winter Garden plays in that it is not of the typical revue order. Naturally there is enough plot spread over the nine big scenes, but those scenes are merely pictures of a glorified nature intended as settings for the comedians, the singers and bevy of beautiful young girls, who literally infest "A World of Pleasure." Most happily named, "A World of Pleasure" held over at the Winter Garden something like twenty-one weeks, a splendid average nowadays for a musical comedy in New York, particularly when one considers the vast seating capacity of the Winter Garden. And during the past summer it established a new record in Chicago, where, despite the most terrific heat in thirty years, it played to absolute capacity for twenty weeks.

A year's subscription to the Gazette is an every-day remembrance—an ideal gift.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty-three years old. For five years I have seen very few young people because my father was sick and I had to stay at home and nurse him and do sewing.

My mother has been dead for eight years. At most two years ago I met a young man at church. He seemed to like me and was very kind to me. He came to see me often and brought me books and sometimes flowers for my father. My father died four months ago and I went to another state to visit my aunt. I wrote this young man two letters and he did not answer them. Then I came back about a month ago and found that he had left town and I don't know where he has gone and no one seems to know. I asked at the place where he worked and they said he simply told them he had a splendid offer out west, but they didn't know any more. They didn't know where he was and they didn't know where he was. I am awfully lonesome and unhappy and I would give anything to see him again. I can't understand why he went away without saying anything. Can you suggest a way for me to get in touch with him?

WORRIED
The postmaster might be able to tell you the young man's present address. If he doesn't know what it is, there is really nothing you can do, except wait for a possible letter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am keeping house for my father and am quite cross. I try to do everything I can to please him. Other girls tell me that they wouldn't live with him because he is so cross, but I tell them it is because he is getting old. Do

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE GRIPPE TALKERS

A distinguished physician of the South read an excellent paper on "Grip in Children" before a representative gathering of American practitioners at Detroit last June. He explained in his introductory remarks that he didn't know what the nature of the infection was in the illness he called "grip" because he had made no bacteriological investigation, but the trouble prevailed in the colder season, and "grip" was as good a name as any to give it. What's a name between friends? Perhaps so. It satisfies the patient, and conveys a vague suggestion that the weather is responsible. Yet the weather is responsible. The doctor described the infection proved to be the colon bacillus causing pyelitis (inflammation of the collecting reservoir of the kidney). A large number of eminent physicians discussed the subject. Some agreed with the author's suggestion that all so-called "colds" and "gripes" should be isolated, and children apparently developing such attacks excluded from school. A Chicago pediatric mentioned that "even in California and Florida grip epidemics prevail during the winter." Another Chicago physician observed that in last winter's epidemic of "grip" in Chicago the influenza germ was rarely or never found in the nasal or bronchial secretions, but a streptococcus was usually present. "Grip" then, isn't mild influenza; it isn't influenza at all. A Milwaukee physician observed that the Milwaukee cases showed, on

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Stirring Up a Floating Kidney.
Is it injurious for one with floating kidney to take exercise such as tennis, skating and running? (A. O.)

ANSWER.—Many subjects of floating kidney take such exercises, quite unaware of the instability of the organ. It is not the exercise, but the shock of the exercise, for health's sake take them, and possibly the kidney will float to harbor and stay there.

Please give your opinion of vibratory massage for the complexion. It seems to be much in vogue with the barbers. (A. W.)

ANSWER.—You can't can exercise.

Household Hints

HOT TOAST FOR SUNDAY EVENING

After a hearty noon meal on Sunday, the evening meal has become a staple matter. Oftentimes the host or hostess has a little fruit, cake and coffee suffice. But a long automobile drives make the menu seem restless, so we have substituted hot toast for the fruit and cake. Toast the bread a delicate brown and remove crusts. Heat the milk to boiling point, salt to taste. Mix thoroughly a tablespoon of flour to a pint of milk in the heated milk, stirring until it is a smooth cream. Add a good-sized piece of butter at the last and pour over the toast. Serve steaming hot.

DOOR MAT OF HUSKS.
At this season corn husk door mats should be made for the porch. They are easily and quickly made and are quite serviceable. Select husks next to the ear because they are white and soft. If they should be a little dry sprinkle them with water.

Braid the husks into a common three-strand braid, feeding your braid from the left side, and each time the left strand comes over put in a new about one inch wide braid and let it be the butt-end of the braid that extends above. The length of the braid depends upon high large you want your rug.

Run your darning needle and common store cord and sew the braid into a round or oblong rug, by coiling the braid around, sewing each coil to the last coil made.

The rug is a smooth braid on the lower side and a solid mass of husks, one inch deep, on top.

USES ARE FOUND FOR OLD SHADES

If you are putting up new shades this fall, don't throw away the old ones. If they are of white Holland linen, boil and wash out the starch and make them into pillow cases or Eas towels.

If your shades are of colored linen, wash out the starch and make them into aprons. Bleach the material in the sun if you prefer it white.

To mend a hole in a piece of old net or lace, take a piece of dam in and put the hole first. This makes smooth, neat work and does not hurt the foot.

Old shoes worn out broom, cut the straw half way down and cover with felt or carpet. This makes an excellent polish for the floor after wax has been applied.

THE TABLE.
Fried Rabbit Steamed (economical; will serve six people).—Lay rabbit in weak salt water overnight. Next day scald and skin and cut up. Have a spider on each table and a piece of butter. Now take pan of flour; roll each piece of rabbit in it; fry a delicate brown on both sides. Slice small onion over this and add hot water. Let steam until tender.

Noodles and Veal.—Take two eggs, five tablespoons sour cream, four enough to make a rather stiff dough. Knead in a large platter and put veal chops around. A very little parsley on dish improves it. This is a potato saver.

Parker House Rolls.—One teaspoon salt, three tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons butter, three cups scalded milk, eight cups sifted flour, one fourth cup yeast dissolved in one fourth cup lukewarm water. Pour scalded milk over salt, sugar and butter. When lukewarm beat in four cups flour. Mix well and add dissolved yeast. When light enough add more flour to knead (four cups). Cover, let rise until light. Roll out to one-half inch thickness, cut into biscuits, brush with melted butter, fold over and place in buttered pan, one inch apart, until very light, then bake in brick oven fifteen minutes. This makes two dozen one-half dozen rolls. To warm over, put in paper sack and put in oven a few minutes.

Apple Custard Pie.—Two or three apples, one cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, pinch of salt, four teaspoons milk, butter. Line the pie tin with pastry. WOMAN'S PEACE PARTY PLANS TO HELP END WAR.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Dec. 9.—Formulation of a list of proposals to Congress looking toward termination of the world war will constitute the principal business of the Woman's National Peace Party, which convened here today for a three-day session.

Among the proposals to be considered, as already announced, are:
One—Creation of a joint commission of experts representing Japan, China and the United States, to study issues between the countries.

Two—Recommendation of action toward immediate convening of the Third Hague Conference.

Third—The principle that foreign investments be made at the risk of the investor.

Fourth—Passage of the law advocated by the American Bar Association, providing Federal control of Aliens.

Miss Jane Addams will preside and address the Congress on phases of "internationalism."

SPELL OF NOVEMBER 10 IS NOT YET EXHAUSTED.
New England, N. D., Dec. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mortensen's three children were born Nov. 10, 1914. Nov. 10, 1915, and Nov. 10, 1916. They were married Nov. 10, 1913.

The Highflyers

"Aunt Leta, it is impossible to make you think in terms of even three figures," said Marjory in the imperious tones she always used when disagreeing with her aunt. Miss Volmar sighed, but did not reply. Her friends had always wondered how the capable little business woman could submit to the high-handed rule of her niece. All her energy seemed to ooze from her finger tips when she was confronted by the determined girl, and she was as wax in her hand.

"I believe that is the reason you never got along better financially," continued the girl after an impressive pause. "I have heard some one say, I forget who now, that we limit ourselves with our thoughts—anyway, I can see how you have always been poor because you have thought of nothing but economy; you have saved in dribble." Marjory's manner was very condescending and instructive.

"I tried to think what would have become of us all these years, if I had not pinched and saved in dribbles, as you call it."

"There, Aunt Leta, I know you have done the very best you knew how, and I surely appreciate it all. To prove it, I am going to have you give up work and come and live with me, and I will take care of the rest of your life." Marjory felt superbly benevolent. The role of Lady Bountiful was new and pleasing.

"Oh, thank you, Miss Volmar, I am flattered with pleasure, but I could not think of being dependent on Tom. He will have enough to do to supply your wants. I do appreciate your generous thought of me just the same." She kissed the blooming face.

"Nonsense! We are going to have a beautiful new home and it would look fine for you to be going round and round in your treadmill, living in dingy lodgings. People would think I was a grateful soul, now wouldn't they?" Marjory patted her aunt's shoulder. "Now, you old dear, let me manage things for you. I have developed a head for business," Miss Volmar laughed disconcertingly. "Any way I manage to get everything I want, which is more than you ever did with all your business head."

"I am so glad everything seems to be coming your way." The adoring look in the aunt's eyes was mollifying and the girl continued brightly. "Do you know that real estate man actually offered to let us move into that beautiful house over and over again? We are to pay for it when we get our fortune. Of course we

"You cannot do that. You have no money, not even to furnish it. Do wait, my dear, till everything is all settled up, and then there will be no hitch," pleaded the little lady.

Marjory frowned. "Really, Aunt, you will never have any good fortune; you are too timid to reach out and take one if it were offered to you. Did I not tell you that all the stores have offered me unlimited credit? What more do I want?"

"They will not keep that up for long. They'll not have to, my dear. The thing will be settled long before their patience is worn out. Never fear."

"But the servants—"

"The will not give up his job till the thing is all straight. A couple of hundred a month ought to keep the servants quiet and keep the salary change out of something new. I'll tell you in time to give a month's notice about leaving your apartment," said the girl, as she swept out of the room.

PROVERBS
Columbus visioned a new route; a continent was opened to the white race. Yodging him were a band of hardy adventurers whose names history does not record.

In every generation there are men, like Arkwright, Whittington or Edison, visioning something new. And with them are allied a band of hardy adventurers whose names we do not know, but to whom we are ever gratefully indebted. They were the first by which the new was tried!

Don't Laugh If You Can't Dare
Play safe if you must. Let John Jones or Tom Smith try the new thing. But don't let them up to ridicule even if the things they try out fail them and leave them looking—and probably feeling foolish.

Ever since then Dorothy climbed into the arms of her 23-year-old lover it has been stipulated by her parents that she could return only by climbing back up the ladder and basking for a while in the sun of the old.

For caves came before houses, just as surely as carriages came before automobiles. And somebody must have been the first by whom the new idea of cooked food was tried!

ANNUAL ALLIED BALL IS HOPEFUL TO CLEAR HALF MILLION FOR RELIEF
London, Dec. 9.—Five hundred thousand dollars for relief of starving, naked and dying non-belligerents in warring Europe is the goal of the second annual allied relief bazaar, which opened in Mechanics Building here today.

The bazaar last year was given in Grand Central Palace, New York. Several hundred thousand dollars worth of prizes have been donated by business houses all over the country and the patrons list of the bazaar contains such names as Lady Aberdeen, Winthrop Ames, Robert Bacon, August Belmont, Lady Colebrook and others. The bazaar will continue until December 20.

CLIMBS BACK UP LADDER SHE CLIMBED RIGHT DOWN TO ELOPE TWO YEARS AGO
Chicago, Dec. 9.—Pretty little Mrs. R. Mayne Luther, 26, has climbed back up the ladder she climbed down in her elopement two years ago and today is back with mother, waiting for the trial of her divorce suit, some say within the next two weeks.

Ever since then Dorothy climbed out of her bedroom window into the arms of her 23-year-old lover it has been stipulated by her parents that she could return only by climbing back up the ladder and basking for a while in the sun of the old.

For caves came before houses, just as surely as carriages came before automobiles. And somebody must have been the first by whom the new idea of cooked food was tried!

INTENSE ITCHING OF RED BLOTCHES

On Hands. Went Up Arm to Shoulder, Then on Face. Awake Nights Scratching.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"At first I noticed little red blotches on my hands, and they went up my arm to my shoulder and then on my face. My hands were rough and inflamed and the itching was so intense that I had to scratch which made them bleed. I used to be awake nights scratching all the time. I was not able to put my hands in water or do my work because it was so painful. My hands were disfigured something terrible. I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I thought I would try them. Two boxes of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap healed me entirely. (Signed) Miss Fredericka Dustin, 27 Auburn Ave., Chicago, Ill., July 14, 1915.

MOTHER WAS RIGHT.

The roomer advanced steadily. When he reached the doorstep, Sidney was demurely seated and quite alone.

The New Roomer Hesitated.

The roomer looked very warm. He carried a suitcase, which was as it should be. The man of the Street always carried their own luggage, except the younger Wilson across the way. His tastes were known to be luxurious.

"Not, isn't it?" Sidney inquired, after a formal greeting. She indicated the place on the step just vacated by Joe. "You'd better cool off out here. The house is like an oven. I think I should have warned you of that before you took the room. These little houses with low roofs are fearfully hot."

The new roomer hesitated. He did not care to establish any relations with the people in the house. Long evenings in which to read, quiet nights in which to sleep and forget—these were the things he had come for.

But Sidney had moved over and was smiling up at him. He folded up awkwardly on the low step. He seemed much too big for the house. Sidney had a peevish thought of the little room upstairs.

"I don't mind heat. I—suppose I don't think about it," said the roomer, rather surprised at himself. "I'm afraid you'll be sorry you took the room."

The roomer smiled in the shadow. "I'm beginning to think that you are sorry."

His quick mind grasped the fact that it was the girl's bedroom he had taken. Other things he had gathered that afternoon from the humming of a sewing machine, from Sidney's businesslike way of running the little room, from the glimpse of a woman in a sunny window, bent over a needle. Gentle poverty was what it meant and more—the constant drain of disheartened, middle-aged women on the youth and courage of the girl beside him.

K. Le Moyne, who was living his own tragically those days, what with poverty and other things, swore a quiet oath to be no further weight on the girl's buoyant spirit. He had no intention of letting the Street encroach on him. He had built up a wall between himself and the rest of the world and he would not scale it. But he would not grudge against it. Let others get what they could out of living. Sidney, suddenly practical, broke in on his thoughts.

"Where are you going to get your meals?"

"I hadn't thought about it. I can stop in somewhere on my way downtown. I work in the gas office—I don't believe I told you."

"It's very bad for you," said Sidney, with decision. "It leads to slovenly habits, such as going without when you're in a hurry, and that sort of thing. The only thing is to have someone expecting you at a certain time." "It sounds like marriage." He was lazily amused.

"It sounds like Mrs. McKee's boarding house at the corner. Twenty-one meals for five dollars, and your ticket is good until it is punched. But Mrs. McKee doesn't like it if you miss."

"Mrs. McKee for me?" said Le Moyne. "I dare say I'll be fairly regular to my meals."

It was growing late. The Street, which mistrusted night air, even on a hot summer evening, was closing its windows. By shifting his position, the man was able to see the girl's face. Very lovely it was, he thought. Very pure, almost radiant—and young. From the middle age of his almost thirty years, she was a child. There had been a boy in the shadows when he came up the Street. Of course there would be a boy—a nice, clear-eyed chap—that she had got from her mother's side.

"What about your washing?" she inquired unexpectedly. "I suppose you're sending things to the laundry, and—what do you do about your stockings?"

"Buy cheap ones and throw 'em away when they're worn out." There seemed to be no reserves with this surprising young person.

"And buttons?"

"Use safety pins. When they're closed one can button over them as well as—"

"I think," said Sidney, "that it is quite time someone took a little care of you. If you will give Katie, our maid, twenty-five cents a week, she'll do your washing and not tear your things to ribbons. And I'll mend them."

Sheer stupefaction was K. Le Moyne's. After a moment:

"You're really rather wonderful, Miss Page. Here am I, lodged, fed, washed, ironed and mended for seven dollars and seventy-five cents a week."

"I hope," said Sidney severely, "that you'll put what you save in the bank." He was still somewhat dazed when he went up the narrow staircase to his swept and garnished room. Never in all of a life that had been active—until recently—had he been so conscious of friendliness and kindly interest. He expanded under it. Some of the tired lines left his face.

"New underwear for yours tomorrow, K. Le Moyne," he said to himself, as he unknotted his cravat. "New underwear, and something besides K. for a first name."

He pondered over that for a time, taking off his shoes slowly and thinking hard. "Kenneth, King, Kerr—None of them appealed to him. And, after all, what did it matter? The old heaviness came over him.

Sidney did not sleep much that night. She lay awake, gazing into the scented darkness, her arms under her head. Love had come into her life at last. A man—only Joe, of course, but it was not the boy himself, but what he stood for, that thrilled her—had asked her to be his wife.

The desire to be loved! There was coming to Sidney a time when love would mean, not receiving but giving—the divine fire instead of the pale flame of youth. At last she slept.

A night breeze came through the windows and spread coolness through the little house. The alantus tree waved in the moonlight and sent sprawling shadows over the wall of K. Le Moyne's bedroom. In the yard the leaves of the morning glory vines quivered as if under the touch of a friendly hand.

CHAPTER II.

Sidney could not remember when her Aunt Harriet had not sat at the table. It was one of her earliest disillusionments to learn that Aunt Harriet lived with them, not because she wished to, but because Sidney's father had borrowed her small patrimony and she was "boarding it out."

Eighteen years she had "boarded it out." Sidney had been born and grown to girlhood; the dreamer father had gone to his grave, with valuable patents lost for lack of money to renew them—gone with his faith in himself destroyed, but with his faith in the world undiminished—for he left his wife and daughter without a dollar of life insurance.

Harriet Kennedy had voiced her own view of the matter, the day after the funeral, to one of her neighbors: "He left no insurance. Why should he bother? He left me."

To the little widow, her sister, she had been no less bitter, and more explicit.

"It looks to me, Anna," she said, "as if by borrowing everything I had George had bought me, body and soul, for the rest of my natural life. I'll stay now until Sidney is able to take hold. Then I'm going to live my own life. It will be a little late, but the Kennedy's live a long time."

The day of Harriet's leaving had seemed far away to Anna Page. Sidney was still her baby. She had given up her dolls, but she still made clothes for them out of scraps from Harriet's sewing room. In the parlance of the Street, Harriet "sewed"—and sewed well.

She had taken Anna into business with her, but the burden of the partnership had always been on Harriet. To give her credit, she had not complained. She was past forty by that time, and her youth had slipped by in that back room with its diggy walls, paper covered with paper patterns.

On the day after the arrival of the roomer, Harriet Kennedy came down to breakfast a little late. Katie, the general-housework girl, was serving breakfast. Mrs. Page, who had taken advantage of Harriet's tardiness to read the obituary column in the morning paper, dropped it.

But Harriet did not sit down.

"Sidney?"

"Yes, Aunt Harriet."

"Sidney, when your father died, I promised to look after both you and your mother until you were able to take care of yourself. That was five years ago. Of course, even before that I had helped to support you."

"If you would only have your coffee, Harriet!"

Mrs. Page sat with her hand on the handle of the old silver-plated coffee-pot. Harriet ignored her.

"You are a young woman now. You have health and energy, and you have youth, which I haven't. I'm past forty. In the next twenty years, at the outside, I've got not only to support myself but to save something to keep me after that, if I live."

Sidney returned her gaze steadily. "I see. Well, Aunt Harriet, you're quite right. You've been a saint to us, but if you want to go away—" "Harriet!" wailed Mrs. Page, "you're not thinking—" "Please, mother."

Harriet's eyes softened as she looked at the girl.

"We can manage," said Sidney quietly. "We'll miss you, but it's time we learned to depend on ourselves."

After that, in a torrent, came Harriet's declaration of independence. And, mixed with its pathetic jumble of reminiscences, hostility to her sister's dead husband, and resentment for her lost years, came poor Harriet's hopes and ambitions, the tragic plea of a woman who must substitute for the optimism and energy of youth the grim determination of middle age.

"I can do good work," she finished. "I'm full of ideas, if I could get a chance to work them out. But there's no chance here. There isn't a woman on the Street who knows real clothes when she sees them."

Mrs. Page could not get back of Harriet's revolt to its cause. To her, Harriet was not an artist pleading for her art; she was a sister and a bread-winner deserting her trust.

"I'm sure," she said stiffly, "we paid you back every cent we borrowed. If you stayed here after George died, it was because you offered to."

Her chin worked. She fumbled for the handkerchief at her belt. But Sidney went around the table and flung a young arm over her aunt's shoulders.

"Why didn't you say all that a year ago? We've been selfish, but we're not as bad as you think. And if anyone in this world is entitled to success, you are. Of course we'll manage."

Harriet's iron repression almost gave way. She covered her emotion with details: "Mrs. Lorenz is going to let me make Christine some things, and if they're all right, I may make her trousseau."

"Trousseau—for Christine?"

"She's not engaged, but her mother says it's only a matter of a short time. I'm going to take two rooms in the business part of town, and put a couch in the back room to sleep on."

Sidney's mind flew to Christine and her bright future, to a trousseau bought, with the Lorenz money, to life insurance.

Why "Lax-ola" Is Key to Health

Ends Constipation, Root of Many Ills.

If people generally appreciated the seriousness of constipation, and how to really overcome this distressing condition, they would know how to rid the world of most of its ailments. Authorities state that at least 95 per cent of all disorders are directly or indirectly due to chronic constipation. Sick headaches, that tired feeling, saltiness, pimples, blotches, sour stomach, biliousness, congested liver, nervousness, rheumatism, are a few of many troubles often caused by the poison absorbed from the waste matter in the intestines. Regular bowel movement carries this poison out of the system, stops constipation—and so is a preventive of many diseases. To create a normal bowel activity, take a LAX-OLA tablet every night for a few nights. You will feel like a new being. It's the best way. LAX-OLA is that wonderful chocolate-flavored laxative that is meeting with such splendid success. Mild, non-stimulating, non-habit-forming. Tones you up. Instead of weakening you—and it contains no habit-forming element. Truly the ideal laxative. LAX-OLA is 25c a box—at Drug-gists. Money back if not perfectly satisfied. Accept nothing else!

Christine settled down, a married woman, with Palmer Howe. She came back with an effort. Harriet had two triangular red spots in her sallow cheeks.

"I can get a few good models—that's the only way to start. And if you care to do handwork for me, Anna, I'll send it to you, and pay you the regular rates. There isn't the call for it there used to be, but just a touch gives dash."

Chapter XII.

The Sixth of November. L'Verne thrust the key into the lock. His only means of escape, he saw, lay behind that door. Otherwise, the approaching soldiers would capture him. He turned the key, and the key slid back. Silently the big door swung inward. The interior was pitch black, but something told the lad that the room had an occupant.

He pulled the door into place and locked it again. Then he drew one of his newly acquired revolvers and waited.

"I told you it was useless to come back," the voice, hoarse but with a hopeless note in it, came from a far corner of the room.

"Keep quiet," ordered L'Verne, without relaxing his grip on the revolver. "Soldiers are coming." "I am," answered the voice, "but I am not a soldier. I am a man. Let me out, and I will be your friend. Let me in, and I will be your enemy." "Let them kill me," L'Verne said.

"Who are you?" demanded Francois. "I am Francois L'Verne," he answered. "I have just escaped from my cell, and left a dead German in my place. Again I ask your name."

"There was silence for a moment, while the other appeared to be thinking. Then at last the man spoke. 'I don't know whether this is another trick or not,' he said, 'but I will believe you. I am Franz Barrois, the French spy recently detected by the Germans. If you are really L'Verne then there is still hope for France.'

"I am L'Verne all right," Francois answered. "Come up here and we can talk things over, but keep quiet, for there are some soldiers outside."

Barrois advanced out of the darkness. His hands groping, came in contact with L'Verne's, and the two shook hands heartily. Then they heard steps on the other side of the door and knew the soldiers were marching by. After a time the steps stopped and L'Verne's quick ears easily told him how far they had gone.

"They've halted in front of my old cell," he whispered. "I guess they're after me." "Then they heard the sound of a door opening and the muttering of men's voices. The voices were excited, and when they ceased the sounds of hurrying footsteps again came by the door."

"When they go back and tell the general you've gone he'll send them right back for me," said Barrois. "If we're going to get away, now's our chance."

"But what shall we do if we do get outside this prison?" L'Verne asked. "It would only mean recapture. We've got to find some place to hide and stay there until tomorrow night. Do you know any place?"

"Yes," he said at length. "My workshop was spent in Rolleaux, and that cover the guard the search for us won't stop until we're found, and it will be some search. We'll walk as fast as we can until we get to the square, and when we get to a street we'll run. The church I told you about is quite a long way out, but if we get there we ought to be safe."

"All right," said L'Verne. "Come on then. He hung the door open and they walked out. The soldiers were still some distance away and did not pay any particular attention to them. Walking swiftly, they traversed the distance between the chateau and the square in a comparatively short time. Even as they mingled with the crowds of people on the street the soldiers entered the door of their recent prison."

"We'll have to run for it now," whispered Barrois. They turned down the first side street and they started running at top speed. A few people noticed them and looked after their fast vanishing forms inquiringly; but the majority, seeing the uniforms of the German army, concluded that they were bent upon some official business."

But very soon their opinions were changed. The united men came running down the street, asking in great excitement whether the two escaped spies had gone. Companies of infantry patrolled the streets and the army was conducting a systematic search of the whole city. Detectives and single soldiers prowled about alleyways and back streets, hoping to gain instant fame and promotion by a lucky capture."

If the rage of Field Marshal von Mackenbourg had been great when he had first learned that Francois L'Verne had escaped, it was fully ten times as great when the soldiers whom he had sent to the chateau returned again with the news that L'Verne was not the only prisoner who had escaped. Franz Barrois had vanished and the entrance guard of the prison had been found unconscious upon the floor."

Mackenbourg immediately ordered every available man to the search. And then, when he had done all in his power to effect the recapture, he stood by the window thinking. It was incredible that the two could remain at liberty and yet—

ALL THAT TIME THE POOR EARL WAS COOPED UP IN BATTLESHIP.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Malton, Eng., Dec. 9.—Tennants on the big estate at Castle Howard, near York, have removed all doubt today as to the temperance views of Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, the castle's mistress.

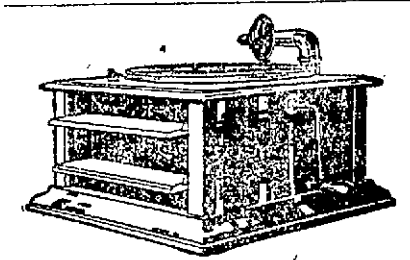

To prove her views were genuine, the Countess has just watched 1,000 bottles, the contents of the castle's wine cellar, consigned back to Mother Earth, where the wine was poured into a hole in the ground. It would have some day been the property of the present Earl, who is an officer aboard the Battle Cruiser, now Zealand if the Countess, his mother, hadn't joined the British Women's Temperance Association.

SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT FOR RUPTURE
Free Trial and Demonstration At Grand Hotel
Rupture sufferers in and near Jansville, Wis., will be given the opportunity of witnessing a most remarkable demonstration of what STU-ART'S PLAPAO-PADS do for ruptured people. Those desiring it will also be given a liberal trial of PLAPAO for home treatment, absolutely FREE.

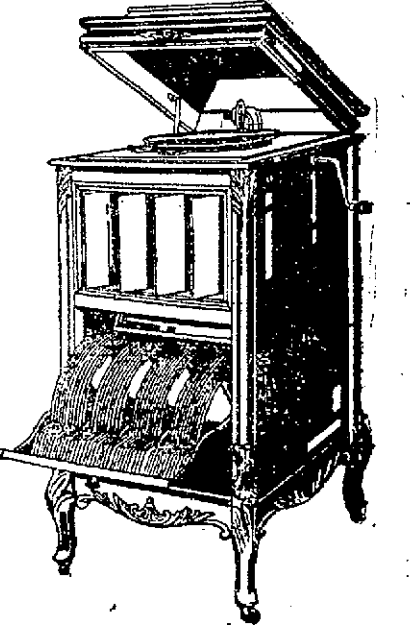

DOES AWAY WITH TRUSS
The PLAPAO-PADS are entirely different from the article commercially known as a "truss." In fact, they are designed to do away with the bands of steel and rubber that chafe and pinch. Their remarkable success is due to the principle of keeping constantly applied the scientifically compounded absorbent-astringent medication called PLAPAO. The purpose is to contract and strengthen the weakened abdominal muscles, thus closing the hernial opening as nature intended. So the rupture CAN'T come down. Being self-adhesive, and when adhering closely to the body slipping or shifting is impossible, therefore they are an important adjunct in retaining rupture that cannot be held by a truss. Demonstrator Babcock, whose wide experience in this country and Europe makes him an authority on matters pertaining to the application of PLAPAO-PADS to any particular rupture, will be at the Grand Hotel, Jansville, Wis., Monday, December 11, only. Hours, 10 A. M. to 1 P. M., and he will be pleased to give WITHOUT CHARGE, to all who call, expert advice and trial for home treatment. Do not fail to call on Mr. Babcock during his stay in your city.

RED SOX NEW OWNER WAS ONCE A BELL HOP

Frazer Answered "Front" On the Jump Down in Peoria Years Ago.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 9.—Harry Frazer, now owner of the Boston Red Sox, world's champion baseball club, got his start to fame much the same as did Joseph J. Lachin, late owner of the club. It was in this city years and years ago that Frazer, as a boy, worked in the old Peoria hotel as a bellhop. Frazer was a good looking and a reputation that clings to him to this day was established among the patrons.

Hopping bells in the Peoria hotel, however, didn't last very long, for Frazer jumped his job and went over to a bill-posting company, where he also became expert. His bill posting made him a habit of local business and ambition just naturally pushed him along until he finally landed a job with a business company as a "band-man," one of the bill posters who is second in advance work.

Frazer's climb to fortune soon started after that. He saved his money until he had enough to procure an interest in McIntosh's Wedding Tug, and promoted himself shortly afterward to fame when he became connected with "Uncle Josh Sprucey" and "Uncle Josh Simpkins." Further earnings around the country with an occasional venture in uncertain theatrical productions finally landed him in Chicago, where he opened a book-lending office and the way to easy sailing at the same time. One of his best known successes was "Tales of Spies." Another was "The Time, Place and the Bird."

MITCHELL IS WINNER OF BOUT WITH RIVERS

Milwaukee Lad Licks Mexican and But for Anxiousness Could Have Kayo in Fourth.

Richie Mitchell licked the tar out of Joe Rivers at Milwaukee last night with a punch that can no longer be feared and joked at. Where he got it, nobody knows, but the place where Rivers got it was every one of the close to 4,000 fight fans saw. A real wallop, a right cross kick that put the tenth Mexican down for the count of eight in the first round and sent him staggering and reeling across the ring, did the business, and throughout the remainder of the bout Rivers was in a daze.

Mitchell's new one is a wicked punch. But for his eagerness he would have got a knockout. It was the Milwaukee lad's fight from start to finish. At times he had Rivers doing a near Marathon around the ring and traveling at the speed of a century runner. Of the ten rounds Mitchell had the shade in every one but the third and fourth, which he fought to the Mexican.

On the face of the returns Lew McCarty, who caught for the Robins and the Giants this season, must have the surest grip upon the ball of the big catchers. In fifty-one games McCarty did not have a passed ball. As far as known, the steepest catching record of all was made by George Sobel, in the Southern league during 1915, when he didn't have a passed ball in 111 games.

CARDS HAVE DATES TO MEET THE GIRLS AT 9:30 THIS EVE

Lakota Tossers Primed for Big Evening in Their Season's First Appearance at Auditorium.

Janesville's Lakota club Cardinals, presenting a new front, are all ready to meet the Boston "wimmin" basketball players in the initial feature of the Card's season schedule, at the Auditorium tonight. Followers of the team do not expect to get much of a line on the playing ability of the new team in their tryst against the Boston college girls, but will attend just the same and get organized somewhat as backers of the team similar to last year.

Eddie Atwood will be seen in a forward position tonight. Across from him Ray McCaffery of this city will perform. Gordon Jones, a former Notre Dame basketball and football star, this year playing with Captain Maurice J. Dalton's Dubuque college champions, and picked as all-Iowa guard, will be the center. Jones is a big fellow and knows the game. He has left school at Dubuque and has taken a position in Janesville. He will be a fixture to the team for the season.

"Moist guard" will be the old standby Dalton should be in excellent physical condition after the football season. Tommy Cronin, another of Dalton's Dubuque college champions, will be the line center. Cronin is another guard of Dalton's type, a lanky little chap, full of Irish fight to the last ditch and pep that assures confidence.

Caldwell, center of the high school squad last year, and Paul Richards, a forward on the team, will be on the sidelines. As it now stands both youngsters will be given a chance to try out against the "wimmin."

Manager Caldwell this morning had a large force of workmen engaged in finishing up on new arrangements made for the seating of spectators. This was finished this afternoon. Bleachers to accommodate as many as the largest crowd which featured the biggest game last year have been installed so that few will have to stand this season. Seats have been installed in every place possible, high ones so the men won't have to stretch their necks trying to see in a while see the players and the floor.

As in former years, Manager Caldwell does not plan to start games this season before nine o'clock. The clock so as to permit the great number of workers who are forced to work late to see the game. Skating will be in order until a few minutes before the game, when the teams start out, trying the baskets. During intermission skating will be permitted.

WALT TIPPETT WITH FIVE HAILING FROM APPLETON, WHICH DEFEATED NEEHAH

"Walt" Tippett, former Janesville boy, and a football and basketball star at Lawrence, is back at Appleton again this year and managing and playing with the Bushey Business College five. At Neenah last night, in one of the most thrilling finishes ever seen in the armory there, Tippet's team won from the Twin City (Neenah-Menasha) Cardinals, 25 to 23. At the end of half time the Cardinals led 17 to 9, but were swept off their feet in the second period. Three times during this half the score was tied. This is the first defeat Neenah five has suffered this year, having already played a schedule of several games. It is possible that both teams may be seen here this winter.

CANTILLON DOMINATES A. A. LEAGUE MEETING

Puts in New President to Replace Chivington—May Be Longer Schedule Next Season.

Mike Cantillon, Minneapolis, former Janesville boy and ballplayer, dominated the annual meeting of the American association held yesterday at Indianapolis. Backed by four of the remaining seven baseball magnates, Cantillon practically steamrolled his advocacies through. It was a five to three vote on every proposition, and what the Cantillon bunch did not like they downed it five to three.

The Minneapolis owner won his fight to defeat T. M. Chivington, who has held the presidency of the league for the last seven years. Thomas J. Hickley of Minneapolis is the new leader.

Here's a summary of what the A. A. magnates did yesterday. Thomas J. Hickley of Minneapolis elected to succeed T. M. Chivington as president, secretary and treasurer. (Salary, $5,000 a year. Term of office, three years.)

BASEBALL PLAYERS PLAN A BIG STRIKE

Talk of a baseball players' strike in the event that certain things are not done is rampant in the heads of many baseball followers today. David L. Putz's demands on behalf of the fraternity; Ban Johnson's declaration of war, and his suggestion that salaries be made lower have made an ideal setting for such chatter.

However, it would be the best bet in the world, in the opinion of more than one baseball magnate, that the baseball players do not strike. Furthermore, there are a great many close students of the game who predict the expected showdown will be a tame affair. Such rumors are bound to have some foundation. In fact, it has been stated by Putz that he would go to such limits if necessary to carry out that far. It's a fair sized bluff on each side, with the odds in favor of victory for neither.

To close the gates of the baseball parks, as has been threatened by several of our leading baseball magnates, would mean financial annihilation for some of them. Of course, there will be the argument that organized baseball would stand staunchly by the short fellows. But when the recent rift with the Federal league is considered it doesn't seem quite possible that the magnates would enjoy flinging out a few more coins to join the ghosts of those who walked the plank during the troublous reign of James Gilmore.

And it would be the funniest thing in the world to see the funniest thing trying to earn money doing something else. They would soon be ready to capitulate, and capitulation would come after the game had been dealt the most severe blow in its history. Baseball players and magnates alike seem to be doing all in their power to sour the public on a game that has grown fat on the tolerance of this same public. The more mercenary jolts the better the better apparently has come to be a popular slogan. Nothing would come near dealing the final smash to the old pastime than a strike of baseball players.

BANTAM JOHNNY COULON LAID ASIDE HIS JACK

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Johnny Coulon, former heavyweight champion, has saved his ring earnings to invest in real estate. The diminutive Chicagoan recently sold a twenty-four apartment building for $67,500 and purchased a new home for his mother.

Coulon does not consider himself through with the ring and plans to engage in a series of contests this winter. He has been offered a match in Liverpool, England, with Jimmy Wilde, the British 112 pound champion, and may accept.

Boston, Dec. 9.—The Boston Americans will bid $60,000 for services of Walter Johnson, pitcher of the Washington club, if he is on the market. President Harry Frazee stated today. His statement was made in connection with a report that the Cleveland team was prepared to bid $50,000 to obtain Johnson.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Dec. 9.—That Edgerton will have a basketball team that will have to be reckoned with this winter is not to be disputed. Although the first team has not as yet been picked, as it is rather a difficult task to select a five out of the many prospects. The squad this year is very fast. Williams, McIntosh and Clarke, of the last year team are out again and played in the high school tournament. This aggregation is playing fast ball, but were defeated by the freshmen team consisting of Kepp, Rossebo, Jones, Gunnis and Tallard. When the five is finally selected it is an assured fact that there will be five stars on the bench. Two games have been scheduled with Janesville Feb. 9th at home and March 16th at Janesville. Some other games have been arranged and others are pending.
